Katie Rhodes '02 plays various roles at the University of Chicago

Katie Rhodes '02, currently attends the University of Chicago and has been a shining star on and off the field. This student/athlete serves as the President of the Women’s Athletic Association, the governing body of all the athletes at the University, as well as the NCAA’s female delegate from the University of Chicago. Rhodes also shows off her athletic skills on UChicago's women's softball team.

Flint Wainess '92 co-authors break-up book

Grossman and Wainess also founded the outrageously funny Web site breakupnews.com together. They have never and never will date. That way, they'll never have to break up.

AUCTION 2006 – Run for the Roses

Have you “herd” that this year’s Auction theme is Run for the Roses?
Okay – we’ll stop “horsing around” and start telling you about Auction!

SAVE THE DATES:

- Friday, May 5, Auction Family Night “Off to the Races”
- Saturday, May 6, Auction “Run for the Roses”
  Have a mint julep and watch the Derby live on the big screen at 5 p.m.

DCDS’s Auction is the school’s major fundraising and social event. Auction proceeds improve the learning experience on all four campuses.

We’re off to the races with the planning of this year’s Auction. Here’s how to get involved!

- Be a Donor and/or Sponsor! Our alumni community has tremendous talents and access to unique opportunities: or personal contribution to Auction! Become a sponsor or underwrite an Auction item with a cash donation!
- Advertise! Promote your business to the DCDS community by placing an ad in the Auction Ad Book! Feature your family in a family ad!
- Either way, it’s easy!
- Attend! For tickets to this year’s auction or to become involved in another way, e-mail auction@dcds.edu, or call 1305.
